MEETINGS AS SPACE FOR SPIRITUAL CONVERSATION AND DISCERNMENT

'Oh, another meeting? Let us finish it fast. I am getting tired of meetings'.

Anyone living in a Jesuit community must be very familiar with this sentiment.

However, a whole new approach to our meetings, in the true traditions of the Society of Jesus, is emerging. Dating back to the days of our first fathers, while they waited in Venice seeking God in poverty and companionship, the method of seeking God's will through spiritual conversations, common discernment and deliberations is a cherished heritage of the Society of Jesus. The ultimate goal is to make common discernment our way of proceeding. G C 36 re-affirmed the value of this. JCSA meetings have increasingly been using this approach with salutary effects.

It all begins with the articulation of the objective and the grace that we seek. An input on the matter is provided. Personal prayer and group sharing follow. In the first round, spiritual movements of each one are shared. In the second round, the group members respond to the promptings of the Spirit in the words of the other members. In the final round deliberations are made leading to insights and consensus. Spiritual conversations are marked by active listening and intentional speaking. Discernment involves, as we all know, attending to the movements of the Spirit. The deliberations are done with deep respect to one another and with the objective in mind.

The just concluded JCSA in Ahmedabad was yet another instance of a very fruitful use of this methodology. Every one of us experienced the power of the Spirit in the deliberations leading to a peaceful and effective dealing with issues.

It is indeed a challenge for all of us to make our meetings spaces for spiritual conversation, discernment and Spirit-led deliberations.

FROM RAILACO, EAST TIMOR

After three months of initiation into the infant region of Timor Leste I moved to Railaco where we Jesuits have a big parish with twelve sub-stations. I started functioning as an assistant Vicar of this parish with special charge of three churches. We are three priests in the team: two Vietnamese, a Philipino Jesuit MBBS and a Malayalee Scholastic from Andhra Province. The Saturday Eucharist in the prison at Gleno is a moving experience. As this is a catholic country, all the prisoners, about a hundred of them, are active in the liturgy with lively singing and participation.... The quality of education is quite low. Though Portuguese and English are of prime importance according to the law of the country, both are quite out of reach for the children because of the scarcity of competent teachers. I realize that there is a lot of scope for remedial teaching, as schools are closed by noon time.... People are happy and healthy with the rural simplicity in food and life-style. In the fertile regions, leafy vegetables are cultivated in large areas. Fruits and vegetables are in plenty.... I do experience a good measure of love, care and appreciation from the people everywhere and from the Jesuits.

Love and regards to all ours in the province.

FROM RISHIKESH

Fr Stephen Chundanthadathil writes:

I am on a sabbatical in Rishikesh, spending time in solitude, silence and meditation. I am staying in a Kutir close to the CMI Regional Theologate. My cell number given in our catalogue is still active, and the following is my present address:

Stephen Chundamthadam, Samanvaya Vidya Dham, Tapovan Sarai P. O.; Sivananda Nagar, Rishikesh, Uttarakhand 249192.

JESA-LOK MANCH

Lok Manch has completed two years of its work culminating in a two-day reflection programme in every unit, namely Attappadi, Wayanad and Thiruvananthapuram. The major issues that came up for discussion were: denial of Pattaya, self esteem of Dalits/Fisherpeople, rights of Dalit Christians, Alcoholism, atrocities against women and children, Lack of safe drinking water, Lack of participation in Gramasabha and so on. All organizations expressed their desire to continue to work together for making Lok Manch sustainable.

The twentieth National JESA Convention was held in Pune from Nov 11 to 15 2017. It was inaugurated by Fr George Pattery, the POSA, and the keynote address was given by Fr Xavier Jeyaraj, Director, SJES, Rome. The Zonal Coordinators made presentations on the status of social action in each zone. Discernment exercise guided by the POSA before and during planning sessions, formulation of JESA Statement 2017, interactions with human rights activists like Mr Amitabh Behr and Mr Harsh Mander, presentation on distress migration by Fr Martin Puthussery, and the screening of Anand Patwardhan's films were some of the highlights. The sessions pointed to the need for proper discernment of the current scenario, and the need to collaborate and network for harmony.

JWL KERALA

The Kerala Core Team of JWL (Jesuit Worldwide Learning) was very happy to welcome JWL Global Team led by Fr Peter Balaeise SJ, its Director. JWL is a Jesuit initiative to offer global standard education to the most deserving categories of students from the margins. At a meeting with the global team on October 14 at St Xavier's Thumba, an MoU has been drawn up between JWL and the Kerala Jesuit Society. The MoU was signed by Fr Pious Vachaparambil, Rector, Fr Peter Balaeise, Director of JWL, and Fr K J Thomas, the Kerala Coordinator of JWL.

As per the MoU three Jesuits centres are expected to start GEL (Global English Learning) classes by January 1, 2018. The centres and the persons in charge are: XIM Thumba (Fr Dominic Joseph), Sneharam Anjengo (Fr Varkeychan M) and Loyola Poovar (Fr K J Thomas). Each centre will work out a comprehensive plan to implement the project.

JWL has given guidelines to the centres to maintain an office with data on the faculty and the students. JWL Kerala Coordinator will function as nodal officer to ensure accountability and performance.

The motto of JWL is "Learning Together to Transform the World". In pursuance of this dream JWL highly encourages us to subscribe to other diploma courses too. But an expansion will take place only after a review on the completion of the first year of GEL.

POPE'S WORLDWIDE PRAYER NETWORK (PWPN)

Pope's Worldwide Prayer Network is the new name of Apostleship of Prayer given by our Pope Francis. Recently PWPN has got two major shifts in the functioning of the administrative system. Now the Pope directly appoints the International Director nominated by the Jesuit Superior General. Secondly all the National Directors of various countries, nominated by the International Director, are appointed by the Bishops' Conferences of the respective countries. The CBCI thus has approved the appointment of Fr Jagdish Parmar SJ as the National Director of PWPN. Fr Parmar made a 3-day visit to Kerala and met some Bishops in order to promote PWPN, and requested them to appoint a diocesan coordinator for PWPN. He also assured our constant support to them through the Province Coordinator. He also had a day-long discussion with a group, Eucharistia Mission, which desires to get affiliated to the Eucharistic Youth Movement, the youth wing of PWPN. Fr Parmar was accompanied by Fr Shin Kallungal, the new Province Coordinator of PWPN. We thank the Lumen Community for its wonderful hospitality. We express our gratitude to Fr Vincent Pereppaden who served as Coordinator of the Apostleship of Prayer for the past few years.
